Tropical Storm Isaias Update July 30, 2020 - 1100

Current Storm Status:

Tropical Storm Isaias - There is a risk of impacts from winds, heavy rainfall, and storm surge along portions of the U.S. east coast beginning this weekend in Florida and spreading northward to the Carolinas and southern mid-Atlantic states early next week. Due to Isaias interacting with Hispaniola, the details of the track and intensity forecast remain uncertain and it is too soon to determine the magnitude and location of these potential impacts. The Town of Surf City is actively monitoring the progress of Isaias and updates to the forecast.

This is a good time to make sure you are prepared and taking necessary precautions and stay informed on this developing storm. Please plan on securing all loose articles to prevent them from be relocated by a storm event.
